Executive Profile

Kris Reuter

Kris Reuter is a seasoned professional with over 30 years of experience in healthcare financial plan development, data research and analysis. His expertise includes financial modeling to support application and licensure under Knox Keene legislation, DMHC Corrective Action Plan resolution, long term strategic planning and budgeting.

Throughout his career, he has made significant contributions in financial modeling and analysis, particularly in the context of financial modeling for health plans, risk bearing organizations, MSOs and IPAs.

In his current role as Director, Managed Care at Athena Group Consulting, Mr. Reuter is dedicated to collaborating closely with boards of directors and clients, with a sharp focus on developing effective risk strategies, ensuring compliance with licensing requirements, and navigating the complex regulatory landscape in California.

Prior to his tenure at Athena Group Consulting, Kris served as a Senior Manager and Director at Mazars USA and Forvis Mazars, where his responsibilities included financial modeling and guidance through the process of applying for Knox Keene licensure, post licensure review and reporting support to maintain strict financial compliance requirements, and overall support through the path to entering the shared risk arrangements.

Mr. Reuter earned his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of California at Davis and has completed coursework for an M.B.A. degree in financial analysis and cost accounting at California State University, Sacramento.
